BEDELL RID OF CONTEMPT.

HIS PLEA OF GUILTY OPENS HIS MOUTH.

A WILLING WITNESS NOW IN THE CIVIL SUIT -BEFORE MAKING ANY STATEMENT HE WAS

OBLIGED TO PURGE HIMSELF. objections of James E. Bedell, the forger of checks and mortgages, lately employed by Shipman, Barlow, Larocque and Choate, to testifying in the suit of that firm against the Bank of the State of New-York were overcome yesterday, and he was taken before Justice Barrett in the Supreme Court, Chambers, and gave his testimony. He looked pale and seemed abashed. William Allen Butler, who repreented the bank, asked for an adjournment on account of the absence of counsel representing the other banks interested, but Mr. Roo thought that the examination could go on without having the other lawyers present as an army of observation and Justice Barrett agreed with him. Bedell then took the stand and the examination began:

Root-Since October 11, when you refused to answer the interrogatories which were put to you by counsel for the plaintiffs in this action and which you were directed by the court to answer, have you reconsidered your refusal and are you new ready to answer such interrogatories? The Witness-Before answering that question, inasmuch as I stand in contempt of court in refusing to answer, as some very serious reflections have been made upon outside rties, I respectfully ask the court to permit me to make swer to the question. Purge yourself of contempt by

Bedell nodded his head and the examination proceeded. He answered preliminary questions in regard to his name, residence and occupation. The Justice was occupied with other business, and a small table was placed in a corner of the court-room, where the examination proceeded. The questions asked related to twenty-eight checks made out by Charles M. Dodge, the former cashier of the law firm, at the request of Bedell. They were payable at the Bank of the State of New-York, on the order of various parties, and each bore the signature of some member of the firm. He confessed that he had indorsed his own name on the checks and the names of those to whose order they were drawn. He received money or checks for each check, to the best of his recollection. In some case he received them from James S. Henry, the lawyer, and a number of the checks were deposited in the Phoenix National Bank to his credit. He identified a check drawn to the order of Thomas Muir, on May 5, 1884. He identified a check for $2,791.25. It had the names of Bedell and Mulr on the back, and was signed by W. D. Shipman, a member of the firm. In regard to this and the other checks the same questions were asked. In response to them as to the first check he said that the signatures on the back were in his own handwriting, that he had received it from Charles M. Dodge, and that he had not received authority from Thomas Muir to indorse his name on the back of the check. He could not remember what he had done with the check. He thought he obtained the money on it from the Bank of the state of New-York. As well as he could remem-ber, he deposited some of the checks to his credit in He had no authority to do so, or to collect the money. The other checks referred to were

September 30, 1884, to order of Thomas Muir, $1,475 75; November 30, 1884, order of H. H. House, $800; April 29, 1885, order of Thomas Gearty, $3,888 82; June 25, 1885, order of Henry D. Sayre, $12,202 63; August 10. 1885, order of A. L. Meyers, $751 64; August 15, 1885, order of Peter Weiner, $1.675 50; August 18, 1885, order of Catharine A. Casanova, $11,187 44; October 2, 1885, order of B. M. Davenport, $6,782 22; Desember 23, 1885, order of John S. Morris, $6,231, 52; February 26. 1885, order of John S. Morris, 62.51, 2, Feb. and 22, 1886, order of Peter Ramsey, $9,750; same date and order, $100; May 29, 1886, order of Adolph D. Lavk, $1,823,93; June 4, 1886, order of Abraham Saunders, $1,679,30; same date and order, $200; October 14, 1886, order of John Rankin, $16,600; February 1, 1887, order of Brighton Guilleaume, $13,323,60; May 23, 1887, order of Michael Guilleaume, $13,323,60; May 23, 1887, order of Michael Guilleaume, $13,323 by. And Givlin, $8,020 76; June 1, 1887, order of Michael Givlin, $4,000; June 11, 1887, order of Katti Raubitschek, $9.874 95; June 11, 1887, order of the same, $2.909 05; August 5, 1887, order of Theodore K. Ball, $15.705 58; September 9, 1887, order of William Laughran, $15.502 39; November 4, 1887, order of Thomas A. Roberts, $14,667 35; December 8, 1887, order of James Hagan, $4,006 42; same date and name, $7,000.

At this point Bedell, who looked weary, said: Excuse me, but this strain is too much for me, i was under a terrible strain yesterday. If this continues, I will certainly break down." Mr. Root said he would let him go, after calling his attention to a check made May 22, 1888, for 80,887, to the order of Elizabeth S. Hadden, concerning which hedell gave testimony similar to that relating to the others. Then the examination was adjourned until 11 a, m. to-day.

DEMANDING ACCESS TO COSTIGAN'S BOOKS. The Commissioners of Accounts yesterday received a letter from De Lancey Nicoll, as counsel for the Fassett Senate Investigating Committee, requesting that the books and records of "The City Record" be returned to Supervisor Costigan's office in the City Hall, so that the committee's expert, Mr. Best, may continue his examination of them, which Mr. Nicoll says is uncompleted. If this should be refused, Mr. Nicoll asks that Mr. Best be allowed to examine these records in the Commissioners' office, or wherever they may be. Mr. Nicoll expresses his "surprise" that these "public records" should have been taken from their usual place of custody and "locked up" from persons authorized to examine them. He desires the Commissioners to understand that his request should be regarded as coming from the Senate Committee Commissioner Sherman said that no action had been taken in the matter, and that none would be taken until he should have an opportunity to consult with his colleague, Commissioner Daly. He did not regard Mr. Nicoll's request as coming from the Senate Com-mittee. An unquestionable request from that com-mittee would be respected at once.

The mails will be distributed as rapidly as the letters become dry, if they are obtained before they are so greatly injured as to be undecipherable.

MISS WILLARD MAKES A CORRECTION. Miss Frances E. Willard writes to The Tribune that the resolution on loyalty presented to the Woman's Christian Temperance Union was not referred to a committee, as reported. She adds: "Its consideration even was objected to and the objection was sustained. We make #90 test of loyality, except total abstinence and the payment of annual dues."

THE REWARD PROMPTLY PAID.

WELL EARNED BY A GOOD REPUBLICAN. THE REMAINING $23,000 AWAITS THE DETECTORS

OF FRAUDULENT REGISTRATION. The efforts of the Democratic newspapers of the city to make capital out of the arrest and conviction of George Gordon, the tramp, who was sentenced to Sing Sing for two years and six months on Tuesday for illegal registration, are extremely ludicrous in view of the facts. As was stated in The Tribune vesterday, Cornellus Leary, the detective who investigated the case and secured the conviction, is not only not a Democrat, as the papers claimed, but was not entitled to the reward in any case, as not he, but John Broderick, a Republican inspector of elections. Mying at No. 149 Madison-st., first called attention to Gordon and was the cause of the investigation which was so ably carried out by Detective Leary.

The reward thus manifestly belonged not to Mr. Leary, but to Mr. Broderick, and the latter made apon for it to Cornellus N. Bliss, chairman of the Reward Committee, on Wednesday noon. On Wednesday evening the committee, Mr. Bliss, Elihu Root and Daniel G. Rollins, met, and after investigating the case, were convinced that Mr. Broderick was ontitled to the $2,000 offered as a reward for the first conviction. Accordingly yesterday morning the committee drew their check, of which the following is a

At the same time they sent the following letter to A. C. Cheney, president of the bank: To A. C. Cheney, esq., President Garfield National Bank. Sir: The undersigned, appointed by the Republican No tional Committee in October of this year to ascertain and determine who is entitled to the reward of $2,000 for in-formation resulting in the arrest and conviction of the person first found guilty of falsely and illegally registering in the City of New-York, have ascertained and that the person entitled to such reward is John Broderick, of No. 149 Madisen-st., of the City of New-York, by reason of furnishing the information which has led to the convic-tion of George Gorion for the crime of illegal registration, and to his sentence on the 23d of this month to imprisonment in the State Prison for the term of two years and six

We have accordingly drawn in favor of John Broderick and delivered to him our check upon your bank for the um of $2,000.

CORNELIUS N. BLISS.

New York, Oct. 25, 1888. DANIEL G. ROLLINS. Yesterday afternoon the check was paid to Mr. Broderick by Mr. Bliss, and a Tribune reporter yesterday afternoon saw at Mr. Eliss's office the receipt day afternoon saw at Mr. Bliss's office the receipt signed by Mr. Broderick in full for the reward. Gordon was, therefore, convicted on Tuesday, the application for the reward made, by a Republican, on Wednesday, and the reward was paid in full on Thursday. The promptness with which the reward was paid should be convincing that the Republican Committee were not "bluffing." Every man concerned in securing the conviction was a Republican, and Gordon himself was a tramp, whose sole reason for registering was that he might sell his vote to the highest bidder.

Said Mr. Bliss yesterday: "The remaining $23,000 is ready to be paid to any who will secure the conviction of voters registering or voting fraudulently."

EMERSON CONVICTED BY BEDELL. THE GAMBLER AND FORGER MAY PLAY POLICY

TOGETHER UP THE RIVER. Herman J. Emerson, at whose rooms at No. 180 Broadway James Bedell lost one-half of his large was convicted yesterday before Recorde Smyth of the crimes of selling lottery policies and keeping a gambling house. The case was made remarkable by Bedell's own story, told on Tuesday and Wednesday, and yesterday's proceedings were less interesting to the general public than those of the previous days of the trial. Bedell was not in the court-room. Mr. Howe asked that the jury be directed to acquit the defendant. The Recorder took from the consideration of the jury two of the five counts of the indictments, and sent the other counts to the jury. No evidence was offered for the defence. Mr. Howe heaped all the vituperation in his abundant vocabulary on Bedell, the chief witness against his client. The closing argument for the defence occupied about an hour Assistant District-Attorney Jerome did not attempt to defend Bedell, but called attention to the corroborating circumstances and to the improbability that Bedell had told a false story. Recorder Smyth ex plained to the jurors with great care the facts which must be shown to warrant a verdict of guilty. He read the law as to the corroboration necessary in such cases as the one on trial, and called attention to the points on which corroborating testimony might

The jury, after an absence of less than an hour from the court-room, rendered a verdict of guilty under the first, third and fourth counts of the indictment. Two of the counts are for being a common gambler in selling lottery policies and one for the insidemeanor of keeping a gambling-house. The highest punishment for the crime of which Emerson was convicted is imprisonment is two years and a fine of $1,000.

Mr. Hannahan said yesterday that he had been able to smooth matters over and that, to a certain extent, these lodges would be reorganized, all the elevated road men being concentrated in one
